

PRESS RELEASE

NATIONAL MEMORIAL CANDLELIGHT VIGILS HONOUR THOSE HARMED BY THE VACCINES AND LOCKDOWNS

As the crisis of COVID-19 retreats and restrictions ease, we can take a deep breath and begin to evaluate the medical, social and economic damages inflicted by pandemic measures. People across Canada and around the world are beginning to take stock of the damage that has occurred. For many, this includes unexpected vaccine injuries (including death), job loss, economic disarray, mental illness and suicide.

While the injured, damaged, and bereft, and their family and friends, attempt to pick up the pieces, there is little acknowledgement or accommodation available through mainstream channels or organizations. In many cases, there is no one to hear these stories or acknowledge and assist with the losses and injuries.

When those with a vaccine injury bring their problems to their doctor, their issues are usually tossed aside as being unrelated to the vaccine and often attributed to anxiety. This leaves the injured in a constant state of uncertainty and distress, often feeling afraid to make their claims public for fear of humiliation.

Canada Health Alliance, in collaboration with Vaccine Choice Canada and Cara McMinn, are committed to raising awareness and encouraging Canadians to gather in their communities to honour those who have lost their lives or were injured by the vaccines or mandates.

In an effort to capture people's stories, Cara McMinn decided to get on her bicycle and ride across the country from Courtenay, British Columbia to Ottawa, Ontario, in what has become known as her "Tell Your Story: Memorial Ride." Canada Health Alliance and Vaccine Choice Canada have arranged nationwide Candlelight Vigils along Cara's route to Ottawa and are encouraging everyone to come together to show support for her incredible initiative.

For each vigil, whether it is held in a park in the heart of a big city, or a small green space in a little rural settlement, we recommend that each person bring a photo of a loved one and/or flowers from their garden. We are also asking people to share their personal stories and photographs on social media using the hashtags #tellyourstory and #bringlighttodarkness.

Candlelight Vigils have been planned for Toronto, Ontario and Berwick, Nova Scotia as well as in British Columbia, including Victoria, Vancouver, Kelowna and Powell River on June 18, 2022, and in Nanaimo on the 19th. Many other communities are stepping forward to assist in the healing process, where all those who have been hurt, marginalized and discredited can share their story and be supported.

Although our efforts can never repair what has happened, we can come together with love, learn from this experience, and begin our healing journeys, personally and collectively.
